

Sofpower

for world-class expertise, right next door.

Sofpower is a computer, Web, Internet, and information technology (IT) consulting service by Dr. Paul S. Wang. A Ph.D. and faculty member from MIT, Paul Wang became a Computer Science professor (Kent State University) in 1981, and served as a Director at the Institute for Computational Mathematics at Kent from 1986 to 2011. He has a long list of research and educational publications including many highly regarded computer science textbooks.

Consulting services include:

- Training courses and presentations on IT topics
- IT management support and consultation
- Website development, analysis, and redesign
- Effective use of technology and computational thinking in an organization

sofpower.com

pwang@sofpower.com

