

Dynamic Web Programming and HTML5

by Paul S. Wang

Example Code Package User's Guide

This example code package contains all code examples in the textbook.

The package contains the following files and directories

```
exc01/  exc03/  exc05/  exc07/  exc09/  exc11/  guide.pdf
exc02/  exc04/  exc06/  exc08/  exc10/  exc12/  exc13/
```

There is one example folder for each chapter in the book. You can find the descriptions for the examples in the textbook with cross-references to file locations and pages.

Note that the include files `bannerdiv.inc`, `bannerdiv13.inc` and `exbanner.inc` found in the example code are for displaying the examples and have little to do with the content of the examples. Also we assume that your Web server is set to process both `.php` and `.html` files through the PHP processor. Also, media files such as `.mp3`, `.ogg`, have not been included in the code package because of their large size.

Fully working demos are found at the DWP site under each chapter. Hopefully, there is little need for you to set up these examples on your own site. However, it is good to have the source code in a package for easy reference.

The example code package is distributed under license from SOFPOWER and is for the personal use of purchasers of the book. Any other use, copying, or resale, without written permission from SOFPOWER, is prohibited.